Re: Electronic access equals delivery model

I am not going to comment on the details of the proposal, because that I am sure you will have lots of comments from securities lawyers and accountants with specific experience and practical comments.

I am writing to express my strong approval of this initiative. I am a board member of 2 Toronto listed public companies and have invested over the past 30 years in many early stage private and public companies. I have for many years been dismayed by the unnecessary waste of money caused by requiring small public companies to mail thousands of documents to their shareholders. In my case, whenever I receive one of these envelopes it goes straight in the garbage, except when I need something to hold open a door or window. The environmental damage caused by destroying so many trees is also inexcusable. If I ever want to review any of the information contained in these envelopes, I will go online to SEDAR.COM and review the searchable documents on the site and will find what I am looking for much faster.

I hope you implement this policy ASAP.

Thanks for your attention.

Anthony Heller.
